

Manuscript Title: Fuel constraints not fire weather conditions limit fire behavior in reburned boreal forests

Authors: Katherine Hayes, Chad Hoffman, Rod Zin, Justin Ziegler, Brian Buma

Highlights:

- Abundance of downed woody debris was greatest in once and thrice-burned forests
- Fire spread sustained in once-burned forests only under extreme fire weather
- Thrice-burned forests were too fuel limited to burn even under extreme fire weather